Celebration of the Homegoing & Memory of Queen Andranette Quick
“Momma”

November 30, 1952 Andranette Chenault Quick was born through her progenitors Collins and Dorothy Chenault. She was a younger Sister to Frances Jordan, and Wanda Braggs, a Wife to Richard Quick, a Mother to Rebecca Quick, a Grandmother to Tyreece Stitts, Thomas Quick, Wisdom Stitts, Yahudah Ysrayl, and Great Grandmother to Tylani and Tyla Stitts.

But before all of that she was a Hebrew Daughter of the Most High YHWH Yahweh. The same as all of the daughters of the Holy books that were indeed of the Royal bloodline SHEM.

Andranette Quick worked hard her entire life as far back as I can remember whether it was volunteering or paid she showed no difference in work ethic. I remember her teaching me if you see something that needs to be done, do it; take that initiative! She was a great mother to me and many in the community. If someone needed help and she was able, she provided that necessity. She told me that it pleases our Abba to be a giver. She used a lot of teachable moments. I have seen her give her last to help others. Replenishment always came in our Abba YHWH Yahweh's time.

Andranette Quick was a Proverbs 31 Daughter of YHWH Yahweh Queen.

Andranette Quick was very creative, witty, and resourceful. She baked and cooked from scratch unfortunately I didn't do so well in her baking class, however I did excel in her cooking tutorials. I loved helping and interacting with her in the delivery process of the wedding, birthday, and anniversary cakes. She was an awesome seamstress, she knew how to measure you and would be able to cut out a pattern from a newspaper and create an awesome garment. If she didn't have access to a sewing machine she would sew by hand. Now, this I was able to learn from her and experiment with. I am always grateful for her encouragement to me to do the best that I can with what I have, keep striving until the objective is attained. To be non-relenting, and efficient was the message. She taught keys of adaptation to any situation as necessity warranted. When you fall in this life get back up, try it again, try it again, do it again, don't stop trying. She would always encourage through scripture. She was a fountain in that respect.

All the children she encountered experienced that unconditional motherly affection, care and council. I love you Momma
